

Communicating and working with parents

Parents and guardians are any school's strongest allies for helping students achieve and thrive to their fullest potential. Robust two-way communication with students' families cultivates a relationship between the home and the school that puts the families squarely on the school's team when working with students.

Parents	Teachers	Students
Percent who agree or strongly agree:	Percent who say they are satisfied or very satisfied with:	Percent who report that:
That the community supports this school.	The extent to which parents and the community are supportive of the school and its program.	They are home unsupervised 3 or more hours a day, 3 or more days a week.

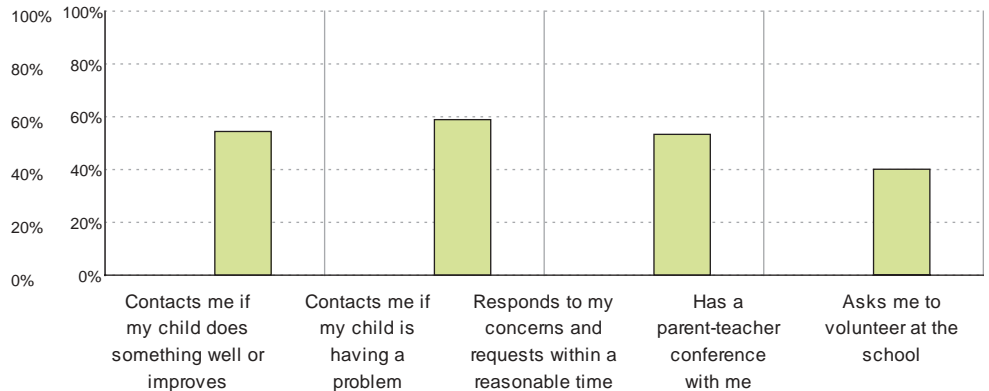

What Teachers Say

Percent of teachers who agree or strongly agree:

Parental involvement in school governance is essential to effective education.

What Parents Say

Percent of parents who report that the school does well:

Teacher practices and attitudes

What Teachers Say

Percent who report that at least weekly:

They meet with individual parents to solve problems and provide assistance.

What Teachers Say

Percent who report they agree or strongly agree that:

Teachers on their team or grade level maintain positive relationships with students' parents.

What Teachers Say

Percent who report that at least monthly:

Two-way communication between home and school is essential to effective education.

What Teachers Say

Percent who report that at least monthly:

They use parents as school resources or volunteers.