

Communicating and working with parents

Parents and guardians are any school's strongest allies for helping students achieve and thrive to their fullest potential. Robust two-way communication with students' families cultivates a relationship between the home and the school that puts the families squarely on the school's team when working with students.

Community support

This school
R.I. high schools

Working with parents

This school
R.I. high schools

Teacher practices and attitudes

This school
R.I. high schools

