

Communicating and working with parents

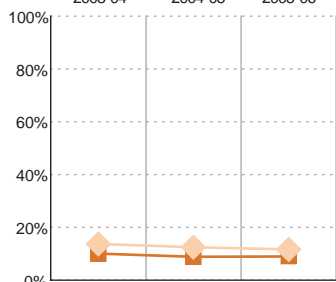

Parents and guardians are any school's strongest allies for helping students achieve and thrive to their fullest potential. Robust two-way communication with students' families cultivates a relationship between the home and the school that puts the families squarely on the school's team when working with students.

Community support

This school
R.I. high schools

Parent Participation Rates
2003-04 2004-05 2005-06

The percentage of students in the school whose parents responded to the SALT Survey

Working with parents

This school
R.I. high schools

* Too few responses to report
? Inadequate data submitted

What Teachers Say

Percent of teachers who agree or strongly agree:

Parental involvement in school governance is essential to effective education.

What Parents Say

Percent of parents who report that the school does well:

What Teachers Say

Percent who report that at least weekly:

Teacher practices and attitudes

This school
R.I. high schools

* Too few responses to report
? Inadequate data submitted

They meet with individual parents to solve problems and provide assistance.

What Teachers Say

Percent who report they agree or strongly agree that:

Teachers on their team or grade level maintain positive relationships with students' parents.

Two-way communication between home and school is essential to effective education.

What Teachers Say

Percent who report that at least monthly:

They use parents as school resources or volunteers.