Parents and guardians are any school’s strongest allies for helping students achieve and thrive to their fullest potential. Robust two-way communication with students’ families cultivates a relationship between the home and the school that puts the families squarely on the school’s team when working with students.

Parent Participation Rates

- Community support: This school
- R.I. high schools: Inadequate data? submitted responses

The percentage of students in the school whose parents responded to the SALT Survey.

What Teachers Say

- Parental involvement in school governance is essential to effective education: Percent of teachers who agree or strongly agree:

What Parents Say

- Contacts me if my child does something well or improves: Percent of parents who report that the school does well:

- Contacts me if my child is having a problem: Percent of parents who report that the school does well:

- Responds to my concerns and requests within a reasonable time: Percent of parents who report that the school does well:

- Has a parent-teacher conference with me: Percent of parents who report that the school does well:

- Asks me to volunteer at the school: Percent of parents who report that the school does well:

Teacher practices and attitudes

- They meet with individual parents to solve problems and provide assistance: Percent who report that at least weekly:

- Teachers on their team or grade level maintain positive relationships with students’ parents: Percent who report they agree or strongly agree that:

- Two-way communication between home and school is essential to effective education: Percent who report they agree or strongly agree that:

- They use parents as school resources or volunteers: Percent who report that at least monthly: